AFC Bournemouth

AFC Bournemouth Women has a long history, dating back to its founding as "Bournemouth" in 1992. The club experienced early success, winning the Southern Region Premier Division and a cup double in the mid-2000s, but it was forced to temporarily fold in 2009 due to financial issues. It successfully reformed by 2012, playing in the Hampshire County Football League and achieving successive promotions, steadily working its way back up the pyramid. This period demonstrated the team's resilience and commitment to re-establishing itself in the women's game.

The club entered a new era of professionalism and success in the 2020s. In 2022, ownership transferred from the Community Sports Trust to the main club, and the team made the move to semi-professional status for the 2023-24 season. After narrowly missing promotion in 2024 despite an unbeaten season, the team clinched the FA Women's National League Division One South West title in the 2024-25 season, earning promotion to the third tier. This triumph, secured in front of a record-breaking crowd at Dean Court, marked a historic milestone and confirmed the club's ambition to rise further through the national league structure.
